London, May 9.

Yesterday arrived a Mail from Holland.

Stockholm, April 29.

COUNT Freytag, the Imperial Minister, has received his Letters of Credence, together with Instructions to observe very narrowly the Steps of the Russian Minister M. Bestuchoff; who, 'tis said, is commissioned to solicit this Court to enter into a strict Alliance with the Czar. In the mean Time 12 Men of War are ordered to be fitted out here, but 'tis not said upon what Account. Yesterday the King's Birth-Day was celebrated at Court in a magnificent Manner; there was a Ball at Night, to which all the foreign Ministers were invited. The Russian Minister had this Day a private Audience of his Majesty, and notified, that at the Instances of the States of the Muscovite Empire, the Czar had taken on himself the Title of Emperor, which he doubted not but his Swedish Majesty would likewise acknowledge: 'Tis said the King's Answer was, 'That he should not be last in acknowledging the Czar's new Title' - from whence 'tis conjectured that a Recognition is not far off.

Vitna, April 29. On the 25th Instant, Count Charles Lewis de Sinzendorff, Vice President and Councillor of the Court, had a long Conference with the Vice Chancellour, and seemed well in Health, but died of a Fit of an Apoplexy the next Morning at Four a-Clock; his Corpse is to lye in State after the Spanish Manner, till the last Funeral Solemnities are performed in the Church named Schott. Confirmation is also received of Count Virmont's Death, which happened on the 21st Instant at One a Clock in the Morning, having but a little while before dispatched an Express to this Court, with Advice that the Nobility of Transylvania would consent to the Settlement of the Succession in the Female Line of the House of Austria. These two vacant Employments are at present greatly sought for.

Madrid, May 3. The Marquis de Grimaldo, Secretary of State, has, by Order and in the Name of his Catholick Majesty, assured Mr. Stanhope, the British Ambassadour at this Court, that the Naval Armament which is now making in some of the Ports of Spain, shall not be employed in any Expedition contrary to the Engagements between this Crown and that of Great Britain.

Paris, May 11. All the Irish Regiments which were quartered near the Coasts of this Kingdom, are removed up into the Inland Parts of the Country by Order of the Duke Regent: And express Orders have been issued, forbidding any Person to go over from France into Great Britain, without a Passport from the Court.

Paris, May 11. Advices from the Comtat of the 24th of last Month say, that since the 15th there was an open Communication at Avignon, that no more than one or two a Day fell sick there, and that it was believed the Distemper was ceasing. The rest of the Comtat was very well. The Commissary Ruelle writes the 25th, that the Report which had been spread some Days, that Persons were newly seized with the Contagion at Orange, was without Foundation.

Whereas Proposals were published some Time ago for printing by Subscription the following Book, viz.

Memoirs and Original Letters of King Charles II. Queen Mother, Duke of York, Duke of Lorraine, Archbishop of Tuam, Lord V. Mount Taffe, &c. giving an exact Account of the Civil Transactions in the Kingdom of Ireland from February 1690 to August 1693, and particularly of the Treaty between the Irish and the Duke of Lorraine against the Parliamentarians, whereby the Intelligences of both Parties are laid open, and the Historians who writ of those Transactions, are supplied and corrected. The whole collected and digested by the Marquess of Clanricarde, Earl of St.
Albans, &c. Deputy-Lieutenant and General-Governor of Ireland, in the Absence of the Marquess of Ormond, Lord Lieutenant of that Kingdom.

—He (the Marquess of Clanricarde) left behind him so full a Relation of all material Passages, as well from the Beginning of that Rebellion, as during the Time of his own Administration, that I have been the less particular in the Accounts of what passed in the Transactions of that Kingdom, performing that more exact Work of his, will, in due Time, be communicated to the World. Lord Clanri-carde's Hist. of the Rebellion. Book 13.

This is to give Notice, that the said Book will be ready to be delivered to the Subscribers on the 10th of July next. N.B. There will be prefixed to it (tho' not mentioned in the Proposals) a Dissertation illustrating several Passages in that Book, with a Digression concerning the Education and Studies of the Irish Bards, or ancient Poets, and of their Works, out of which the learned Dr. Keating has compiled his History of Ireland, (not yet published,) with some Account of Dr. Keating's Life, and the Occasion of his writing that History. There will be no more than 250 Copies of this Book printed, which will be on a fine Royal Paper in Octavo, at Half a Guinea each Book; and the Subscription being very near compleat-
